BRIEF SPEECH AT RHINEBECK

ITINERARY OF HIS TRIP WEST-WARD FINALLY ARRANGED.

Bryan's Denial of the Charge that He Was Paid by Silver Mine Owners Accepted by Thurston.

UPPER RED HOOK, N. Y., Aug. 19 .-This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Bryan started out with their host and the usual train of newspaper men for a "quiet drive." It ended as usual in a brass-band-hurrah time at Rhinebeck, a place of 1,200 inhabitants candidate stopped for supper. The party, P. Morton at "Ellerslie." The Morton family is in the Adirondacks, but the superinthat Mr. Bryan was noted in the newspapers as going to "Ellerslie," and if he came to show him every attention possible. The party was conducted through the immense stock farm and dairy, and the system of sterilizing milk was displayed. The residence was then inspected, and the party took carriages and went down to Jacob A. Ruppert's summer place. Rechurch picnic, where the party was hailed and asked to come in. They went in, Mr. Bryan paying two dollars for the party. It was the summer fair of the Hillside Methodist Church.

At Rhinebeck half a hundred people were in waiting when the party alighted. The "Rhinebeck," presided over by a Republican, was decorated with bunting and as the party dined the crowd grew larger. In a very short time it was decided to give welcome to the candidate, and George L. Esseltyne, a Republican, was selected to welcome Mr. Bryan in a purely social way to the village. A brass band played in front of the hotel, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, having finished supper, received a number of people on the hotel piazza. A little later Mr. Bryan appeared on the ter follows: hotel balcony and was heartily applauded. Mr. Esseltyne made a few remarks to the assembled people, about 300 in number, introducing Mr. Bryan as a social guest and bidding him welcome to the village as a friend of the people. He said: "We appear here together in an impromptu gathering. We did not know two or three hours ago that we were to be the cipients of the magnificent honor which conferred upon us to-night. To this Mr. Bryan replied:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlementhink I can go further than the chairman in this impromptu meeting. He says that to be President of the United States is to be greater than to be a Roman or king. But few can be President, and I rejoice that I live in a land where to be a citizen is greater than to be a king of any nation on earth. I rejoice that I live in a land where those who for a time exercise authority derive that authority from the consent of the governed and do not rule by preparations for the early importation of | right divine. In this land, whether we live along the Hudson or on the Western pratries, we stand upon a common plane, and resents us all. I want to beg you, my friends, to believe that we who advocate the restoration of the money of the Constitution are not seeking that policy because we believe it is going to give us an advantage over somebody else. We have studied the question as best we could, and we honestly believe that there can be no permanent, no general prosperity in this county until we stop the conspiracy of those who would make gold all other things depend upon that alone. We believe that while the struggle for gold goes on other things must become cheap; that as we increase the demand for that one thing we must decrease the price of all those things that we change for gold, and we believe that this falling of prices, compelled by legislation, is destructive of the energies, the industries and the hope of the toiling masses of the United States over the world. (Applause.) "I beg of you, when you are considering this question, that you will remember that this is a great nation, and that it is made of 70,000,000 people, each the equal of every other. I have visited some of your beautiful villas along the Hudson. I have been charmed with the beauty which commends them, but I beg for you, when you this question, to remember that those who instead of occupying these magnificent places must toil all day, under the summer sup, have just as much interest money question as any one Remember that this question cannot be viewed from the standpoint of any class of people. It reaches every man. woman and child in the land, and you should make your view broad enough to comprehend them all, because I believe I speak the truth when I say that the prosperity of the well-to-do rests upon the prosperity of those who toll, and that you cannot have a financial policy which brings distress to those who create wealth, without in the end reaching those who rest upon those toilers; and more than that, you cannot have a policy which brings prosperity to the masses without that prosperity proving a benefit to all mankind I beg that you in your consideration of this questions will study the interests of all and not merely the interest of those who may be permanently benefited by the rise in value of a dollar, and when you have made up your mind I desire each of you to feel that you have the right to express your own view. On Saturday the party will go over to the Catskills for a day's outing. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan reviewed a troop of United States artillery as it passed through here this morning. It was Battery K, First Artillery, in command of Lieutenant A. Slaker and was on its way to Palenville, where it will camp.
